

"I'm inspired by any story of someone overcoming adversity. Thankfully, I get to hear a lot of these doing what I do."

Inspiring. Empowering. Touching lives. And making a difference. It's what Healing Baskets owner Caroline Cheshire gets to do every day in her business as an online retailer selling custom and ready-made gifts and gift baskets. Their baskets are specifically themed to provide comfort and uplift for people enduring unavoidably sad everyday situations such as divorce, cancer diagnosis or the passing of a loved one. "We inspire and empower people to reach out and touch someone's life when they need it most. Compendium's books and gift products couldn't be more appropriate for our customers in virtually any of these situations. They express so much so well in such a memorable format." Following Healing Baskets' success, Caroline is launching a new site focused on happier everyday occasions and celebratory themes.
